

THERE ARE ANTS!

ILLUSTRATED BY DEEPA BALSAR

Do you see what I see?

Look at all these ants!

Alright, let's find out why they are here!

This one tells me that they need enough food to take home.

But how much is enough?

Naughty ants!

Those are my roller skates!

Roller skates aren't food.

They have found some food!

Sweet candy and cookies, all very yummy.

But is it enough?

This ant must be tough.

He can lift so much food all
at once!

Look at him go!

They still don't have enough.

They slip through the door of the cupboard to find more!

They follow this smell.

It's a good smell, and it leads them to cake.

Will this be enough food?

A colorful illustration. On the left, a red bucket with a silver handle is partially visible. A yellow hand is reaching out from the bucket, holding a grey, wavy object. Below the hand, blue liquid is splashing. In the center, a yellow vertical bar stands. To the right of the bar, a green, wavy shape is on a yellow background. At the bottom right, a group of small, dark brown ants is walking on a light brown path.

This smell is rough.

It tells them to go away, or they might get hurt by the water!

Oh no!

This smell led them straight to my snack!

I really wanted to eat that.

Now they have enough food, and they can finally go back home.

Bye bye, ants!

But maybe go somewhere else next time.

OUGH

Bookbot books are free, high quality decodable readers based on the order of sounds introduced by the Bookbot Scope & Sequence.

We're delighted to offer them to you to download and print at no cost. But it would be great if you could link to our page www.bookbotkids.com/free-books from your school's website so others can enjoy our free books.
